J. H. SHIREMAN'S
REAPERS & MOWERS.

HAVING been agent for this machine last season, I also offer it to the farmer this season. It is well known, having taken the premium at the Bendersville Fair, also at the Gettysburg Mowing Match over seven others, which were considered splendid machines, and likewise at the Dillsburg Mowing Match. Having concluded not to offer any machine that will not give entire satisfaction, I have refused agencies of several other machines, and now offer this one as

THE GREAT MACHINE OF THE SEASON.

Having tried one myself, I know exactly what it will do. I could refer you to scores of farmers who have purchased machines of me, who are highly pleased and say this is the only machine they would use.
Extras always on hand, and repairing done here at my place. This is a great consideration—the machine can be repaired at home immediately, and with much less cost.
Another great saving is the BINDER which is attached to this celebrated Reaper and Mower. It has been thoroughly tried, and given entire satisfaction—requiring no harvest hand except a driver. This Binder can also be attached to the Reapers which have been sold; but cannot be attached to any other machine except Shireman's.
I will here refer you to a few farmers, in different localities, who have bought and used these machines:

Michael Fiscel,	Stephen Gettier,
Moses Hartman,	Mr. Sterner,
Joseph Wierman,	Mr. Linn,
Ulrich Jacobs,	J. R. Hershey
Jacob Hartman,	B. B. Woodburn,

Jacob Luman,
with others, too numerous to mention.
This machine has a self-rake, side delivery, and is warranted to do its work as above recommended.
Also on hand, SHIREMAN'S SELF-DISCHARGING HORSE RAKE, a first-rate article, which we will sell at the lowest possible price. Warranted to give satisfaction. Also the COLUMBIA RAKE always on hand.
Machines can be seen at my house, three miles south of Gettysburg, or at Mr. Conrad Snyder's, Battlefield Hotel.

Around its sides the rushes wave—
They marked his grave with nameless stone,
And they left him there to sleep alone.

No tear-drop fell on the clammy ground,
No rose-bush marked the lonely mound,
No token reared by a sister's hand,
For he died far off in a foreign land.

The thistled plant with its bonnet blue,
Drank o'er his grave the falling dew;
But he lies silent there beneath,
While the wild vine twines his only wreath.

But he had friends on a foreign shore,
And long they looked, but he came no more,
And they sighed and started in their home
In hope, the loved and lost would come;

But they never knew how he calmly slept
And the trailing vine o'er his tomb-stone crept.
They met—not on earth, but the golden shore
Of the heavenly clime, where he went before.

GETTYSBURG, April 3rd, 1869.

DUNIE AND THE ICE.

I believe only six of the Pardoe children went to church that day,—though it may have been seven. But, if I am not accurate as to numbers, the story of their adventure is perfectly true.

They lived on an island in the middle of the river, in a little world by themselves.—It was early spring time. The earth appeared to be covered with patchwork quilt of whitey-brown and grayish-green. Under this ragged old quilt the forces of nature were hard at work. The dry grass was undergoing thorough repairs, and the "sod" would "turn to violets" one of these days. All in due time; but just now things looked dismal enough. The trees were only sketched in outline, and even the willows showed as yet no little vapory touches of green. The roads were full of holes, and, as Grandpa Pardoe said, it was "dreadful travelling underfoot." Overhead it was scarcely better. It seemed as if the "upper deep" had tipped over, and was pouring itself into the lap of the earth.

But on this particular Sunday the dripping clouds were ready for a day of rest.—The wee bit girlie of the house, Dunie Pardoe, looked out of the window, and said with intense surprise, "Why, mamma, mamma, 'tisn't yainin'! There's a little bit o' sun ou' doors. I sawed it!"

"She's a precious baby to tell the news," cried Brother Phil, smothering her with kisses. I've a great mind to take her to Sabbath-school. May I, mother? She wants to see things as much as anybody else."

"Well, if you take her, Philip, you must be responsible for her," replied the busy Mrs. Pardoe, who was at that moment tying the shoestrings of the next to the youngest. Perhaps, with so much to do, her mind had slipped into a hard knot; it seems to me, if she had had full possession of her faculties, she would never have consented to let Miss Julia go out when the roads were scarcely navigable except for boys' boots.

Dunie clapped her hands.

"O, will they let me in?" she asked; "for, when I go to the school, then somebody comes that's a teacher, and tells me, 'Go home,' and says I mustn't stay."

Dunie was three years old, and the "committee-men," overlooking her peculiar merits, had not considered her a scholar.—But this was only a Sabbath-school; nobody would object to her going, just for one day.

Then there was a scramble to get her ready; but when she was fairly enveloped in her Rob Roy cloak and red quilted hood a murmur of admiration ran round the room. Who so beautiful as our Dunie? Such a splendid, "adust complexion," such wonderful "Indian-red" eyes, shaded by the blackest of lashes! She was a little sister to be proud of. Not one of the other ten had ever been so cunning or so fat.

Well, they took her to church, and, in order to get there, they had to cross a bridge. They looked over the railing, and saw around the piers a few logs floating on the high water, though they could not move far, being locked in with ice.

"I shouldn't think," said Mary, with mock gravity, "twas proper for logs to go swimming on Sunday."

"Nor I either," said Phil; "they ought to be 'taken up' for it. But come let's hurry; we're late."

"Hurry!" echoed four childish voices,—"hurry with Dunie!"

"My shoes won't walk," said the little one, by way of apology. It was her feet which were at fault. They were not large enough to carry her plump little body; and though she had now enlarged them with mud, that did not seem to help the matter at all. There was no way for it but to carry her in arms, "for fear they might loose her in one of the holes."

They reached the main-land at last, and the church; and I believe Dunie only spoke in meeting once, and then she said "I so tired." Phil observed that afterward the clergyman preached faster—from sheer pity, he presumed.

Dunie practised gymnastics just a little, and now and then opened her rosy mouth, inlaid with pearl, and very gently yawned. But soon the "spirit of deep sleep" fell upon her, and she lost the Sabbath-school exercises which followed the sermon. This would hereafter be a subject of regret to Dunie; but it was just now a real relief to her five "responsible" brothers and sisters.

After their lessons had been repeated, and school was out, the six Pardoes started for home. But a change had come over the weather. The wind had started up from a sound sleep, and was blowing as if all the people in the world were deaf, and must be made to hear.

"Never mind," said the eldest sister, cheerily, "It will blow us home. Dunie, what made you talk in church?"

"I never," replied the young culprit, rubbing her eyes. "But," added she, indignantly, "that man up in the box, he kep' a talkin' all the time."

"But what made you go to sleep, dear, and lose the Sabbath-school?" said Moses, who was next younger than Phil, and, though kindly disposed, had a peculiar talent for making little ones cry.

"I went asleep in Sabbee-school?" sobbed Dunie, completely discouraged,—"in Sabbee-school? Where'd they put it? I never sawed it."

"There, don't you tease her, Moses," said the youngest but one. "We've got as much as we can do to get her home—for I begin to believe she's a club-footed—I do."

The next to the oldest was about to correct his brother, and say "pink-footed," when a frightful noise was heard,—not thunder, it was too prolonged for that. It was a deep sullen roar, heard above the wail of the wind like the boom of a cataract.

The ice was going out.

There is always more or less excitement to New England children in such an event. This was an unusually imposing spectacle, for the ice was very strong, and the freshet was hurring it down the stream with great force.

The white blocks, incrusted with snow, were as blue at heart as turquoise, and they tremeled and crowded one another like an immense company of living things. The powerful tide was crushing them between vast masses of logs, or heaving them upward to fall headlong and sideways, and crumble themselves into smaller fragments.

The sun came out of a cloud, and shone on the creamy, frozen waves in their mad dance. Then they sparkled and quivered as if the river had thrown up from its unquiet bed a mine of diamonds.

"How splendid!" exclaimed the children, lost in rapture.

"But it makes me scared," said little Dunie, falling, face downward, into a mud puddle.

"Why, what are you afraid of?" said Moses, picking her up, and partially cleansing her with his pocket-handkerchief. "The ice can't touch us."

Hullo there!" screamed the toll-gatherer, appearing at the door of his small house with both arms raised above his head.—"Children, children, stop! Don't go near the bridge for your lives!"

"O, it's going off, it's going off!" screamed the five Pardoes in concert, joined by the terrified Dunie, who did not know what was "going off," but thought likely it was the whole world and part of the sky.

The children forgot to admire any longer the magnificent white flood. The ice might be glorious in beauty, but, alas! it was terrible in strength. How could they get home? What would become of them? They saw their father's house in the distance; but when and how where they to reach it? It might as well have been leagues away.

"Twill be days and days," cried Mary, "before ever we'll be able to cross this river in boats. What will be done with us? for we can't sleep on the ground."

"And nothing to eat," wailed hungry Moses, tortured with a fleeting vision of apple-pie and doughnuts.

"It is a hard case," said the toll-gatherer, compassionately, "but you don't want to risk lives. Look at them blocks crowding up ag'inst the piers; hear what a thunder they make; and the logs coming down in booms. You step into our house, children; and my wife and the neighbors, we'll contrive to stow you away somewhere."

Crowds of people were collecting on the bank, watching the ice "go out." The Pardoes stood irresolute; when suddenly there was a shout from the other end of the bridge, as loud and shrill as a fog-bell, "Children, come—HOME!"

It was Mr. Pardoe's voice.

"What shall we do? what shall we do?" said Philip, running round and round.

"Twon't do to ask it, Neighbor Pardoe," screamed the toll-keeper.

"Children—run—there's time!" answered the father hoarsely.

It was Mary who replied, "Yes, father, we'n come."

"He knows," thought she. "If he tells us to do it, it's right.

Firm in obedience and faith, she stepped upon the shaking bridge. For an instant Philip hesitated, looked up stream and down stream, then followed cautiously with Dunie. After him the three other children in all stages of fright, with white lips, trembling limbs, and eyes dilated with fear.

'Quick! quick!" screamed Mr. Pardoe. "Run for your lives!" shouted the people on the bank.

The roaring torrent and the high wind together were rocking the bridge like a cradle. If it had not been for Duine! All the rest could run. It seemed as if there was lead in the child's shoes. She hung a dead weight, between Philip and Mary, who pulled her forward without letting her little toddling feet touch the ground.

The small procession of six! How eagerly everybody watched "what speed they made, with their graves so nigh." Only a few more brittle planks between them and destruction! More than one man was on the point of rushing after the little pedestrians, and drawing them back from their doom. Yet all the anxiety of the multitude could not have equalled the agonizing suspense in that father's heart. He thought he knew the strength of the piers, and the length of time they could resist the attack of the ice. But what if he had made a mistake? What if his precious children were about to fall a sacrifice to their obedience? Every moment seemed an age to the frantic father, while the little creatures ran for their lives. But it was over at last; the bridge was crossed, and the children were safe!

The people on the opposite bank set up a shout; but Mr. Pardoe was speechless. He caught Dunie, and held her close to his heart, as if, in her little person, he embraced the whole six.

"O father!" cried Philip, "if you could know how we trembled! 'Twas like walking over an earthquake!"

"With Dunie to drag every step!" added Moses.

"I'll tell you what I thought," said Mary, catching her breath,—"I thought my father was a stone-mason, and ought to know more than a toll-keeper about bridges.—But anyway, if he'd been nothing but a lawyer or a doctor, I'd have done what he said."

"Bravo for my Mary!" said Mr. Pardoe, wipping his eyes.

Five minutes after this the bridge was snapped asunder. The main body of it went reeling down stream, the sport of the ice. Mr. Pardoe closed his eyes, shuddering at the fancy of what might have been.

Everybody fell to kissing Dunie, for this had long been a family habit whenever there arose any feeling which was beyond the power of expression.

"I'm glad we got all home," gasped Dunie, her eyes expanding with a perfectly new idea, as she watched the ruins from the window. "That b'idge is a goin' way off! The ice catched it! How I did yun on that b'idge, so the ice wouldn't catch me!—But," added the little innocent, with a sudden play of fancy, "I wasn't 'fwaid, mamma for I looked up to the sky, and then God sended some booful clouds, and I fought I saw two little angels yidin' on em."—Sophie May in Our Young Folks.

A BASHFUL youth was submitting to his paternal progenitor the ordeal of popping the question:
"Pooh!" said the patriarch, "how do you suppose I managed?"
"You'd better talk," responded the hopeful, "you married mother, and I've got to marry a strange girl!"

A GRINDING tax—Mill tax.

NANNIE ANSAR'S STORY.

Somebody came out of the barn, when I went by with my milking pails, and caught me about the waist and kissed me.

"Fy! for shame!" said I; "and all the world looking, likely. What will they say of me?"

"Oh," says he, "who minds what they think? They can only say George Gillot loves Nannie Ansar enough to kiss her, and if they could say that Nannie Ansar loved me as well—"

But there a sharp voice broke in upon us.

"Nannie! Nannie! I want you in a hurry!" and out of the house came Miss Tabitha as though a whirlwind blew her.

Away went George Gillot to his hay, and there I stood before Miss Tabby Gillot, and she put out her gaunt, brown hand and clutched my shoulder tight, and says she:

"Nannie Ansar, I saw my nephew kiss you—has he done it before?"

"Once or twice, Miss Tabby."

"He's a very bad young man, then," said Tabby.

"Bad?" says I. "Oh, no, Miss Tabby—a better never walked."

"Poor, foolish child," says she. "Don't you know he is a rich farmer and you are a servant?"

"I do, Miss," "and all the kinder of him to like me so."

"To like you?" says she. "Well, you are an innocent bit of a girl, I believe, and I'll give you a hint: It's far from liking, it's nearer hating, when a man makes love to a girl he'd be too proud to marry; George Gillot is going to make Rose Gifford his wife. As for you—"

"Engaged to Miss Gifford!" said I, and my voice was not my own as I heard it. "Then why does he kiss other folks?"

"Because he thinks them fools," said Miss Tabby, and then she walked away, and all my blood seemed turned to gall and there was no such bitter woman under the sky as I. Though why should I hate poor Miss Rose Gifford, instead of George Gillot, no one could tell, though a woman might feel why.

One thing I knew right well—I could not stay there. And so that night I went to Miss Tabby:

"I must leave you, ma'am," said I; "I'm going to the city to live."

And she paid me my wages without a word, and that night I was off on the train to New York. I learned a trade in the city and worked at it, but amidst all the stiching I kept thinking of George Gillot. Was he married yet? And had she made him happy—that silly girl, at whom I had heard him laugh so often? and did he know how well I loved him? and how, poor girl that I was, I had twice the truth in me that she had, for I knew her well. Perhaps I grew graver than I used to be, and paler. You may live all your life without love, I suppose, as a blind man born without sight, and never miss it; but to lose it after it has been yours is a bitter thing, the bitterest we have to bear, I think, and you know I believed George Gillot loved me.

The trade I worked at was the binding of hats, and the hatter was an old bachelor, quiet and fat, but good natured, and not, as I could judge, past forty-five. It wasn't long before I knew he liked me, nor long before the other girls fell to plaguing me about him. At first, I used to shrink from the thought, but I was lonely and he was kind. Not ugly, either, with his firm red and white skin and honest blue eyes; and something as a daughter feels I felt for him, after, awhile, and then it seemed worth while to spend one's life making a good man's house brighter and happier. And at last, when he took me by the hand one day, in no more romantic place than the hatter's shop, and said:

"Nannie, if you'll be my wife you never shall repent it."

I just said—"I don't believe I ever should, Mr. Wharton." And that was all either of us said about it.

I cried a little in my own room, that night, and I took George Gillot's little presents, a ring and a locket and a red bound hymn book, with my name on it, from my trunk and burned them up. Why I had kept them so long I could not tell. And then I sat down and thought.

"This was not just what I had dreamt of. Long ago, when I was a child and had a happy home, my nurse used to tell me of a fairy prince, who came over the see to marry a young princess, and I used to think that, some day, such a prince would come for me; and this good man, with his double chin and kind blue eyes, was not a fairy prince, by any means. And afterward, when death took my parents and nothing was left for the little orphan but to work for her daily bread, and gaunt Miss Tabby took me into her kitchen, there was George Gillot, so handsome, so winning, seeming to love me so—and—and—and this was not George Gillot either; but oh! a better man—only a woman's heart is such a foolish thing that she finds it hard to rule it."

Well, after that night, I tried to be happy; and he said to me—Mr. Wharton, I mean—:

"Let us be married very soon my dear."

And I gave him his way. We were to meet at the minister's one morning, and there be married. Kate May would with me, and Dr. Jallap, the apothecary, with Mr. Warton; and I meant—God knows—to make that home as happy as a woman might.

I bought no great finery for my wedding—only a pearl gray silk and white bonnet; and I looked, Kate told me, more like a Quakeress than a bride, they were so plain and quiet.

We got there first—to the minister's wife, who had been her Sunday school teacher, to see her new baby—when the door opened, and in walked a tall, fairhaired man—looked at me and stood still, with his eyes on my face. I looked at him, and my heart seemed to stop beating. It was George Gillot!

Only that I could not move I would have run away. It was so terrible to see him there just then!—so altered, too. He was thin and was, and stooped a little—he who had been as straight as an arrow—and deep, deep in his eyes I saw a look I never thought to see there—a yearning, longing look, as though that which he pined for was always far away from him.

He drew his breath with a little shiver, and then he came toward me and said.

"It is Nannie Ansar!"

I said: "Yes," and, "I hope I see you well, sir?"

That, with my heart throbbing as though it would kill me! But women learn to do these things—the poorest and most ignorant women can hide their heart-secrets, if they will, God be thanked for it!

"My aunt is dead," he said, after a pause, "she died two years ago. I live in the city now. I have had losses, and bad health, and the farm is mine no longer. I did not know you ever came here, and I know them so well!"

"I never came here before," I said. "I am here to-day to be married."

And I was glad to say it; for it would show him I was heart free of him at least.

But he turned a glance on me that made me start.

"I thought you were married five years ago," he said.

"Not I," I said; "but it's longer than that since you were, I've no doubt?"

"I?" he said. "The thought has never been in my mind—one woman turned me against the rest of her sex. The woman who jilted me, with all her simple ways as coolly as the finest belle could."

"I grieve you've had so bad a sample of us sir," I said; "not that I ever thought Miss Rose Gifford one to be constant long."

"Rose Gifford!" he cried. "Ah, you act well, Nannie Ansar! You know it was you who left me in the lurch, after as much as telling me you loved me. It's only all right you should hear it on your wedding day—you who have poisoned me for life!"

I gave a little scream.

We looked at each other; and the truth came to both of us.

"You were not engaged to Rose Gilford?" said I.

"I never wanted any woman for a wife, but you," he said. "I've pined for you these long, long years. And she did this, my Aunt Tabitha. She always wanted me to marry Rose—curse——"

"Hush!" I cried; "do not curse her—she is dead."

And he sobbed.

"Oh, my God, how I have loved you! And how I have met you, and have learned the truth to late."

And he knelt down at my feet.

And all my pride and strength left me. Had I died for it, I must have done what I did. I bent over him and kissed his pale, broad forehead, and his drooped eyelids, and the cheeks over which hot tears stole, and I said:

"I have plighted troth to a good man who loves me and I cannot break it. I must be his wife; but I never loved any man but you, George Gillot, and I never shall—Oh heaven help me! I never shall.

Oh, was it wicked to say so? To this day, I do not know.

I lifted up my head after those kisses, and saw through the window a carriage at the door, and my bridegroom in it. He caught my face at the pane and kissed his hand to me—one foot was on the step of the coach that moment; the next, there came a clatter of horses' feet a whirl of wheels, shrieks from the people in the street, nothing where the carriage had stood an instant before, and all the crowd rushing in one direction. * * * * * *

I knew nothing more until the women stood about me, and with pitiful voices and streaming eyes told me that my bridegroom was dead! He had uttered but one word after they picked him up—that word was "Nannie!"

Well, Heaven knows I was remorseful and that I wept for him and had meant to be a true wife to him and it was long before I would listen to any word of comfort.—But the heart will have its way; and my love and I had both suffered so, and I could not always be cruel to him and myself—and to day I am George Gillot's happy wife.

THE DEACON SOLD.—As Deacon A——, on an extremely cold morning in old times, was riding by the house of his neighbor B. the latter chopping wood. The usual salutations were exchanged, the severity of the weather briefly discussed, and the horseman made demonstration of passing on, when his neighbor detained him—

"Don't be in a hurry, deacon. Would you not like a glass of good old Jamaica this morning?"

"Thank you, kindly," said the old gentleman at the same time beginning to dismount with all the deliberation becoming a deacon. "I don't care if I do."

"Ah don't trouble yourself to get off, deacon," said the neighbor. "I merely asked for information. We haven't a drop in the house."

THE NEGRO'S SIMILE.—An old negro named Pete was very much troubled about his sins. Perceiving him one day with a very downcast look, his master asked him the cause.

"O, massa! I'm such a great sinner!"

"But, Pete," said his master, "you are foolish to take it so much to heart. You never see me troubled about my sins."

"I know de reason, massa," said Pete; "when you go out duck-shooting and kill one duck and wound another, don't you run after de wounded duck?"

"Yes, Pete;" and the master wondered what was coming next.

"Well, massa, dat is de way wid you and me; de debble has got you sure; but as he am not sure of me he chases dis chile all de time."

EFFICACY OF ONIONS.—A writer says: "We are troubled often with severe coughs, the result of cold of long standing, which may turn to consumption or premature death. Hard coughs cause sleepless nights by constant irritation of the throat, and a strong effort to throw off offensive matter from the lungs. The remedy proposed has often been tried, and is simply to take into the stomach before retiring for the night a piece of raw onion after chewing. This esculent in an uncooked state is very heating, and collects the water from the lungs and throat, causing relief from the patient.

THE Iuka (Miss.) Gazette has got a fighting editor, who writes as follows of some one who had sent him an anonymous threatening letter: "In reply to the contemptible poltroon who penned it, we would say we are personally responsible for every line we write for the Gazette, and are on the streets of Iuka seven days in every week, during six of which we are prepared to kick or cowhide any low born blackguard or vulgar vagabond who may feel a desire to insult or injure us."

THE DROVER'S STORY.

My name is Anthony Hunt. I am a drover and I live miles and miles away upon the western prairie. There wasn't a house within sight when we moved there, and now we haven't many neighbors, though those we have are good ones.

I went away from home to sell some fifty head of cattle fine creatures as ever you saw. I was to buy some groceries and dry goods before I came back, and above all a doll for our youngest Dolly. She had never had a store doll of her own, only the rag babies her mother had made her.

Dolly could talk of nothing else, and went down to the very gate to call after me to "buy a big one." Nobody but a parent can understand how full my mind was of that toy, and how, when the cattle were sold the first thing I hurried off to buy Dolly's doll. I found a large one with eyes that would open and shut when you pull a wire, and had it wrapped in paper and tucked it under my arm while I had the parcels of calico and delaine and tea and sugar put up. Then, late as it was, I started for home. It might have been more prudent to stay until morning, but I felt anxious to get back, and eager to hear Dolly's prattle about her toy.

I was mounted on a steady going old horse of mine, and pretty loaded. Night set in before I was a mile from town, and settled down dark as pitch while I was in the middle of the wildest bit of road I know of.

I rode on as fast as I could, but of a sudden I heard a little cry like a child's voice! I stopped short and listened—I heard it again. I called and it answered me. I couldn't see a thing, all was dark as pitch. I got down and felt about in the grass—called again, and again was answered.—Then I began to wonder. I'm not a timid man, but I was known to be a drover and to have money about me. It might be a trap to catch me unawares and rob and murder me.

I'm not superstitious—not very. But how could a real child be out on the prairie in such a night, at such an hour. It might be more than human.

The bit of a coward that hides itself in most men showed itself to me then, and I was half inclined to run away, but once more I heard that cry, and said I:

"If any man's child is hereabouts, Anthony Hunt is not the man to let it die."

I searched again. At last I bethought me of a hollow under the hill, and groping that way, sure enough I found a little dripping thing that moaned and sobbed as I took it in my arms. I could not see it, but I thanked heaven. I called my horse, and the beast came to me, and I mounted, and tucked the little soaked thing under my coat as well as I could, promising to take it home to mammy. It seemed tired to death, and pretty soon cried itself to sleep against my bosom.

It had slept there over an hour when I saw my own windows. There were lights in them, and I supposed my wife had left them for my sake, but when I got into the door-yard I saw something was the matter, and stood still with a dead fear at my heart, five minutes before I could lift the latch.—At last I did it, and saw the room full of neighbors, and my wife amidst them weeping.

When she saw me she hid her face. "Oh, don't tell him," she said, "it will kill him."

And one said, "nothing, now I hope—what's that in your arms?"

"A poor, lost child, said I. "I found it on the road. Take it, will you, I've turned faint, and I lifted up the sleeping thing and saw the face of my own child, my little Dolly.

It was my darling and none other, that I had picked up upon the rain drenched road.

My little child had wandered out to meet "daddy" and the doll, while her mother was at work, and whom they were lamenting as one dead. I thanked heaven on my knees before them all. It is not much of a story, my friends, but I think of it often in my nights, and wonder how I could bear to live now if I had not stopped when I heard the cry for, hardly louder than a squirrel's chirp.

That's Dolly yonder with her mother in the meadow, a girl worth saving. I think her (but then, I'm her father and may be partial) the prettiest and sweetest thing this side of the Mississippi.

TRICKS OF A JUGGLER.

Heller the far-famed juggler, cannot be satisfied with his legitimate triumphs before an audience, but occasionally does a neat thing for his own amusement, very much to the surprise of those who happened to be present.

On Saturday last, while passing an itinerant vender of cheap provisions, Mr. Heller suddenly paused and inquired:

"How do you sell eggs, auntie?"

Dem eggs," was the response, "dey am a picayune apiece—fresh, too, de last one ob em; biled em myself, and know dey's fust rate.

"Well, I'll try 'em," said the magician, laying down a bit of fractional currency.—"Have you pepper and salt?"

"Yes, sir, dare dey is," said the table saleswoman watching her customer with intense interest.

Leisurely drawing out a little penknife, Heller proceeded very quietly to cut the egg exactly in half, when suddenly a bright new twenty-five cent piece wes discovered laying imbedded in the yolk, apparently as bright as when it came from the mint.—Very coolly the great magician transferred the coin to his pocket, and taking up another egg inquired:

"And how much do you ask me for this egg?"

"De Lord bress my soul! Dat egg? De fact am, boss, dis egg am worth a dime shuah."

"All right," was the response; here's the dime. Now give me the egg."

Separating it with an exact precision that the colored lady watched eagerly, a quarter-eagle was most carefully picked out of the egg and placed in the vest pocket of the operator as before. The old woman was thunder-struck, as well she might have been, and her customer had to ask the price for the third egg two or three times before he could obtain a reply.

"Dar's no use talkin,' mars'r," said the bewildered old darkey, I can't let you hab dat egg nohow less dan a quarter, I declare to de Lord I can't.

"Very good," said Heller, whose imperturable features were as solemn as an undertaker, "there is your quarter, and here is the egg. All right."

As he opened the last egg, a brace of five dollar gold pieces were discovered snugly deposited in the heart of the yolk, and jingling them merrily together in his little palm, the servant coolly remarked:

"Very good eggs, indeed, I rather like them; and while I am about it I believe I will buy a dozen. What is the price?'

"I say price!" exclaimed the astonished daughter of Ham. "You couldn't buy them eggs, mars'r, for all the money you's got. No dat you couldn't, I'se gwine to take dem eggs home, I is; an dat money in dem all belongs to me. It does dat.—Couldn't sell no more of dem eggs nohow.'

Amid the roar of the spectators the benighted African started to her domicile to "smash dem eggs" but with what success we are unable to relate.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.

The first session of the Forty-first Congress closed on Saturday at noon, both houses having been in session nearly the whole of Friday night. All the important business was put through. In the Senate many important nominations failed to be reached, thus necessitating re-nominations by the President to the Senate, which will set in special session for several weeks under proclamation of the President, to consider treaties and Executive nominations.

A Bill passed both Houses providing for elections in Virginia, Mississippi and Texas, under direction of the President, with a proviso that the Constitutions to be adopted in these States are to be submitted to Congress for approval, and a further proviso making the ratification of the Suffrage Amendment a condition of admission into the Union.

The house on Friday night, by a very decided vote, adopted a resolution expressing sympathy with the people of Cuba in their efforts to secure independence and a Republican form of government, and pledging the support of Congress to the President in case he should deem it expedient at any time to recognize the new Government. It reached the Senate at a late hour, but that body adjourned without reaching it.

The Pacific Railroad controversy was practically adjusted by the passage of a joint resolution which provides that the stockholders of the Union Pacific Road shall hold a meeting in Boston on April 22, to elect directors, and establish the general office at such place as they may select; that Ogden shall be the point of junction of the two roads; that the Union Pacific shall continue laying the track until reaching Promontory Summit, but the Central Pacific shall pay for and own the same from Ogden; that the President shall appoint Commissioners to examine into the condition of the roads, and shall withhold a sufficient amount of bonds to insure their completion as first-class roads in every respect, and that the Attorney General shall institute and examination as to whether the two roads have forfeited their franchises, and, if so, to proceed against them. This action was taken after a conference with the officers of the Central Pacific and the Union Pacific Roads. Ogden was to be the point of union; but the latter road having reached that point going westward, and the former road coming eastward being behind in the work, the Union Pacific continued to press the work westward beyond Ogden, some 70 miles. To this the Central Pacific objected. To keep Ogden as the point of junction, and yet hasten the completion of the entire line, the above compromise was effected.

IN the U. States Supreme Court on Monday, Chief Justice CHASE delivered the opinion of the Court in the Texas bond case. The decision is of importance as a test case, and settles some important principles: First, affirming the authority of Provisional Governor Hamilton to prosecute suit for bonds sold by the State of Texas during the war. Second, that the annexation of Texas made it a State of the Union, and that no act of the citizens or of the Government of Texas alone has dissolved or could dissolve that relation. Third, that the ordinance of secession and all legislative acts in aid of the rebellion were null and void. Fourth, that the bonds in controversy were the property of Texas at the time of secession, and Texas has a right to recover the bonds and perpetuate the injunction which is decreed accordingly. The Court holds the right of Congress to present the terms of the restoration of the States lately in rebellion. Justice Grier dissented, holding Texas as not a State in the Union, in point of fact, and therefore could not bring suit in the Supreme Court any more than the District of Columbia could. He denied the jurisdiction and merits of the case. Justices Swayne and Miller dissented as to the jurisdiction only.

In the somewhat celebrated case of McArdle vs. The United States, the Court decides that they have no jurisdiction over the case under acts of Congress recently passed. It will be recollected that McArdle, editor of a Vicksburg paper, was arrested by military authority in Vicksburg in 1867, and thrown into prison by the officer commanding for alleged seditious language, and sued out a writ of appeal to the Supreme Court. This is the case which the Democracy tried to bring up out of time, two years ago, in hopes of getting a decision adverse to the constitutionality of the Reconstruction acts.

The bolting members of the lower house of the Indiana Legislature took their seats on Monday and were sworn in. A resolution was then adopted postponing action on the Suffrage Amendment until the 11th of May. The recreant Democratic Senators thereupon took their seats and both houses organized. What the upshot is to be remains to be seen. We presume, however, as soon as the Amendment is reached, there will be another revolutionary movement. The Democracy of Indiana have been so long training under Rebel leadership, that secession and rebellion are favorite tactics with them.

NOTHING of special interest transpired in the Legislature during the past week. Gov. Geary sent to the Senate the name of Mr. Wickersham, for reappoinment as Superintendant of Common Schools. In the House, the bill to abolish capital punishment was defeated by 20 ayes to 62 noes. A bill extending universal suffrage to men and women of the age of 21 years, who have resided in the State one year and 10 days in the district, was defeated, ayes 21, noes 65.

GERALD EATON, convicted of the murder of Heenan, was hung in Philadelphia on Thursday, the 8th inst.—GEORGE M. TWITCHELL, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Hill, was to have been hung on the same day, but about 5 o'clock in the morning he was found dead in his cell, having committed suicide by taking prussic acid, a deadly poison. An examination of his cell led to the discovery of a vial of prussic acid in one of his boots. A coroner's jury, after rigid examination, failed to develope any information through whom he got it. It will be recollected that, several days before, Twitchell made what purported to be confession, charging the murder on his wife—that he was roused from sleep by the latter, stating that she had a quarrel with her mother, and had killed her—that he helped his wife to throw the body out of the window. This "confession" is generally discredited by the Philadelphia papers as improbable and at various with all accepted theories of the murder, made either in hope of securing a reprieve or out of revenge for cold treatment by his wife. The latter has all through persisted in assertions of her entire innocence, and since the murder has had little or no intercourse with her husband. Within a few days she has furnished the Philadelphia papers with a long statement in self vindication, but disclaiming any knowledge of how or by whom the murder was committed. She explains her ceasing to visit Twitchell after he was in jail by alleging that on two occasions he appealed to her to confess that she had killed Mrs. Hill, and once to declare that she had not been murdered at all, but had fallen from the window, at the same time furnishing her with written statements that she was to make to the public, containing these assertions. These written statements are said to be in Twitchell's handwriting, but bear the marks of having been prepared by lawyers. The statement throws no light upon the real criminal.

Great efforts had been made by the friends of both parties to secure reprieves or pardons, but Gov. Geary refused to interfere. Eaton was a prominent Democratic rowdy, as was also his victim Heenan, and his special friends worked energetically to save him. Twitchell's father is reported to have spent nearly all he was worth, some $40,000, to save his son, but without avail. A few days before the execution a bill was rushed through both branches of the Legislature, authorizing the Governor to commute the death penalty, in convictions for murder, to imprisonment. It was passed, no doubt, with special reference to the cases of Twitchell and Eaton; but Gov. Geary, instead of availing himself of the extraordinary powers conferred on him, promptly vetoed the bill, as obnoxious in principle and a dangerous interference with the long established jurisdiction of Criminal Courts.

THE United States Senate met on Monday in special session, in accordance with the proclamation of the President. There are eleven treaties waiting action, prominent among them the Alabama treaty, negotiated by Mr. Reverdy Johnson, the ratification of which will be opposed by Senator Sumner, and, it is said, will find but few advocates. On the ratification of the reciprocity treaty with the Sandwich Islands there will be a wider difference of opinion among the Senators, and the result is doubtful. Senator Sumner, the Chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, favors the latter treaty. The President sent in a number of nominations for foreign missions, including the following:

J. Lathrop Motley, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to England.

Leopold Markbreit, to be Minister Resident at Boliva.

James R. Partridge, of Maryland, to be Minister Resident at Nicaragua.

Wm. A. Pile, of Missouri, to be Minister Resident at Venezuela.

S. A. Hurlburt, to be Minister Resident at Bogota.

Silas A. Hudson, of Iowa, to be Minister Resident at Guatemala.

Ebenezer D. Bassett (colored), of Pennsylvania, to be Minister Resident and Consul General for the Republic of Hayti.

A. G. Curtin, of Pennsylvania, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Russia.

John Jya, of New York, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Austria.

Horace Ruflee, of Wisconsin, to be Minister Resident at Switzerland.

Thomas H. Nelson, of Indiana, to be Minister-plenipotentiary to Mexico.

Henry S. Sanford, of Connecticut, to be Minister to Spain.

C. C. Andrews, of Minnesota, to be Minister to Copenhagen.

Wm A. Howard, of Michigan, to be Minister to China.

THE Alabama claims treaty, negotiation by Reverdy Johnson amid his dinner festivities, and which Secretary Seward was so anxious to have confirmed before going out of office, has come to grief. On Tuesday it was rejected by the United States by a nearly unanimous vote, but a single Senator voting for its approval. The vote was, ayes 1, noes 54. Immediately following the rejection of the treaty Mr. Motley was confirmed as Minister to England, vice Mr. Johnson, the Senate thus at one blow repudiating the treaty and its negotiater. Senator Sumner made a very able speech against the treaty, in which he maintained that it provided only for a settlement of individual claims, leaving those of our countrymen to be counterbalanced by claims of British blockade runners.—The treaty proposed no settlement of the essential matters in dispute. He held that England sould be held responsible for the damage inflicted on our commerce during the war, and that fitting out pirates in British ports had prolonged the war for two years.

H. H. BINGHAM, the present Postmaster at Philadelphia, has been reappointed by the President.

INTERESTING REMINISCENCE OF THE BLACK HAWK WAR.—In a recent address before the Historical Society at Chicago, ex-Congressman Isaac N. Arnold gave some interesting statements in regard to the Black Hawk war and some of the men who served together in it. In the light of recent events, the fact that Zachary Taylor, Robert Anderson, Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis served together in that campaign is a remarkable one. Mr. Arnold said:

"In 1832, John Dixon kept the ferry across Rock River, and the latch-string of his hospitable home was never drawn in against the stranger. The Black Hawk war was pending, and settlers and whole families had been killed and scalped upon the prairie. The National Government sent Gen. Scott, with some regular troops to Chicago, and to these were added some companies of Illinois mounted volunteers, called out by Governor Reynolds, to aid in protecting the settlers and chastising the Indians. Among the regulars who met on the banks of Rock River, at the crossing then called "Dixon's Ferry," under the immediate command of General Atkinson, were Lieut. Col. Zachary Taylor, subsequently President of the United States; Lieut. Robert Anderson, the hero of Fort Sumter; Lieut. Jefferson Davis, and private Abraham Lincoln, of Captain Ile's company of Illinois Mounted Rangers.—These facts I received from John Dixon, a hale man of more than eighty years, still iving. Anderson and Davis were young Lieutenants, just from West Point, and Lincoln was a tall and boyish-looking young man of twenty-two. So far as I know, our fellow citizens, Gorden S. Hubbard, is the only living citizen of Chicago who was engaged in this expedition against Black Hawk. When Major Anderson visited Washington, after the evacuation of Fort Sumter, he called at the White House to pay his respects to the President. After the Chief Magistrate had expressed his thanks to Anderson for his conduct in South Carolina, Mr. Lincoln said: 'Major, do you remember of ever meeting me before?'—'No,' replied Anderson, 'I have no recollection of ever having the pleasure.' 'My memory is better than yours,' said Lincoln; 'you mustered me into the United States service, as high private of Illinois volunteers, at Dixon's Ferry, in the Black Hawk War.'"

THE FINE ARTS IN NEW YORK.—The Ledger brings a railing accusation against the women of New York. It says they paint their faces. Can this statement be true:

"No one can ride or walk through the fashionable portion of New York city, attend any place of amusement, or go to any evening party, without becoming aware of the horrible fact that many women, of whom better things might be expected, have fallen into the pernicious habit of applying to their skins the enamels which, under various attractive names, are advertised and sold in all parts of the land. Not only faded faces, but countenances so young, plump and pretty in outline that they must in their natural condition be attractive, are lacquered over with an unnatural polish of fine porcelain, which produces an effect such as one might imagine it a china doll were afflicted with consumption."

ACCORDING to Washington rumor Senator Ross of Kansas, one of the immortal seven anti-impeachment Senators, called on the President on Monday and demanded the appointment of a man whom the President refused to nominate. The President again declined, and told Mr. Ross that he had made his mind up on that question, when the Senator made a very insolent and profane reply, whereupon he was ordered by President Grant to instantly leave the house, and without waiting for any further demonstration from the President Mr. Ross obediently made a bee line for the door.

FREE WORSHIP IN SPAIN.—A letter from Seville, March 10, describes a remarkable demonstration there. It was the day appointed for the grand demonstration in favor of religious worship and a free church—the new creed of the Republican party. There were about 30,000 people in the procession, but including chiefly the youth of the city from sixteen to thirty years of age, many young ladies and women marching five abreast. There was a great number of bands of music in the procession, and many of the large flags were very handsome.—They made a collection from house to house to defray expenses. The whole city made holiday.

TURKEY AND PERSIA.—The English journals state that the dispute between these two countries, in reference to their respective frontiers, is beginning to assume a threatening aspect. It is reported that Midhat Pacha, one of the ablest and most energetic of the Turkish Governors, has been despatched to Bagdad with full powers and instructions to settle the difficulty, by force of arms, if necessary. Numerous reinforcements of troops and artillery have been sent to the frontier, and it is said that the Viceroy of Egypt has promised to assist the Sultan, in case of war, with a military contingent, which would proceed to Bagdad by the Red Sea and Bassorah.

SUICIDE.—A Mr. Abraham Kelley, living at foot of the Allegheny mountain, near the county line between Bedford and Somerset, committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn, on Thursday the 1st inst. It seems he had a payment to make on his property on the first of April, and not being able to raise the amount, went to his stable to get a horse with the intention of going to Somerset, to try to borrow the money out of the bank. It is supposed that while preparing for his journey he was seized with a fit of despondency and hung himself with a line in the stable.

THE village of Hancock, Michigan, was almost entirely destroyed by a conflagration which commenced there at an early hour on Monday morning. Sixty-five acres of territory were burned over, the flames consuming one hundred and ten occupied buildings, besides a large number of barns. Only a few of the important buildings escaped the general devastation, and over two hundred families were left homeless or lost the greater portion of their property. The loss is about $500,000, on which there is but $100,000 insurance.

A PARIS Journal says it has been discovered that if the blades of cutting-tools are steeped in an acid solution, composed of sulphuric acid and water, in the proportion of one of the former to twenty of the latter, they will become as sharp as if ground, and will only require to be finished on the hone; the length of immersion must be augmented, we are told, according to the fineness of the edge required, but nothing is said about the average time required. At any rate, it is an experiment any one can try.

THE Elmira N. Y. Gazette says:—"The entire gift of Ezra Cornell to the Cornell University will amount to about two million two hundred thousand dollars. IN connection with the foreign appointments it may not be uninteresting to know the salaries attached to the respective offices. The Ministers to England and France receive $17,500 a year each; the Ministers to Russia, Austria, Spain and Mexico, $12,000 each; the Ministers to Hayti and Liberia, $7,500; the Ministers Resident in Sweden, Belgium, Guatemala, Bogota, Bolivia and Nicaragua, $7,500.

THE horse George Palmer, it is said, is to be sold to Commodore Vanderbilt for $25,000.

SEDUCTION AND MURDER.

A WOMAN KILLS HER SEDUCER.

The quiet village of Jarrettsville, Hartford county, Md., was thrown into a state of the utmost excitement and confusion by a tragedy which occurred in its bounds on Saturday evening last, about six o'clock. Nicholas McComas, a young man living about two miles from the village, was shot and almost instantly killed by Miss Martha J. Cairns, who resides the same distance from Jarrettsville, but in a different direction from it than the house of McComas. The accounts given of the melancholy affair render it certain that McComas seduced Miss Cairns over a year ago, under promise of marriage, and in January last a child was born, which is living at the present time. Miss Cairns frequently importuned McComas to fulfill his promise of marrying her, but by equivocations and excuses he evaded her requests until she felt towards him no other feeling than utter hatred and determination to avenge her injuries. On Saturday evening he had ridden into Jarrettsville for the purpose of attending a meeting of a militia company, of which he was a member, and at the time of the murder was in the yard at the rear of the tavern. Miss Cairns followed him to Jarrettsville, and on arriving at the tavern dismounted from her horse, fastened him securely, and passing into the ladies' apartment removed her riding skirt, her hat and other incumbrances that might retard her movements. Leaving the ladies' apartment with a Colt's revolver in her hand, she walked directly through the bar-room, which was full of men, and stepped out upon a back porch, which overlooked the yard where McComas was.—Standing in the doorway opening from the bar on the porch, she took deliberate aim with her pistol at McComas and fired, he being scarcely ten paces distant from her. The bullet struck him in the breast, and as he reeled wildly toward the pillars which held up the porch, she fired two more shots, neither of which took effect. He clasped the pillars of the porch, and endeavored to sustain himself by them, but weak as he was from the rapid flow of blood from the wound, his strength failed him and he fell to the ground. She walked directly up to him, and standing over him, fired the two last shots from her revolver into his body, one lodging in his right leg and the other in the groin. Still carrying her revolver in her hand, she passed back through the crowd of men, who, as if stricken senseless by the awful scene being enacted before their eyes, did not move a finger to bar her passage. Along the porch, through the barroom, and back to the ladies' apartment she walked without showing a trace of emotion or a qualm of nervousness.

In the dressing room she resumed her riding habit, and again mounting her horse, she galloped back towards her home, and had gone a considerable distance from the village before any one thought of following her. Mr. Jarrett rode after her, and joining her about a mile from Jarrettsville, she asked him if McComas was dead. He replied yes, when she said, "I told him what I was going to do." She exhibited no signs of regret, and was apparently as composed as if she had just finished the most ordinary action.

On Sunday she rode to Belair and gave herself up to the authorities. Miss Cairns is about thirty, and McComas was thirty-seven years of age. Both the parties belonged to highly respectable families, and held a foremost position in the social life of the county. The feeling of excitement in regard to this act of summary retribution runs very high in the neighborhood, but public opinion is generally on the side of Miss Cairns.

McComas is supposed to have been killed by the first shot which struck him, and the last two shots were probably fired into his dead body.

Some time since Miss Cairns brought suit against McComas for breach of promise and seduction, but the case has not yet come to trial.

FRIGHTFUL TRAGEDY—MOTHER AND FOUR CHILDREN BRAINED WITH AN AXE.—A despatch from St. Paul, Minnesota, gives the details of the horrible murder which occurred on Wednesday morning in Oakdale township, ten miles from that city. A farmer named James B. Grey, well known in that section, in a fit of insanity killed his wife and four children, the latter consisting of two boys, aged eighteen and eight, and two girls aged five and three years. The murderer was about forty years old, a large and powerfully built man, and has many relatives in the neighborhood. He has lately been suffering from deafness, and grew insane over it.

The deed was committed about daylight. The neighbors heard Mrs. Grey scream, and going to the house found the wife and four children cut to pieces with an axe, and the murderer endeavoring to hang himself. He was arrested and lodged in the St. Paul Jail, where it required three or four men to hold him. In answer to inquiries he would only reply, "I killed them all with an axe. Oh, hang me!" The wife was murdered first, being cut in the head and stabbed several times. The children were then murdered and placed in a row on the floor, their throats so badly cut as to nearly sever the heads from the body.

The murderer had evidently chopped their heads with an axe, multilating them so as to render recognition almost impossible. The prisoner, at intervals of the paroxysms of maniacal fury, made a statement detailing the particulars of the murder. He says his motive was that he feared he was coming to poverty and the family would be left destitute, and so thought it would be better to send them to Heaven at once. The prisoner tried to beat his brains out several times by jumping against the sides of his cell.

WE met with an odd misprint in a country newspaper the other day. It is stated that a young lady at an amateur concert had won a well deserved encore by the exquisite taste with which she sang the well-worn song: "An Angel's Whisker." This is nearly as good as the famous paragraph which, by the substitution of a "c" for an "h," made a railway train run over a cow, and "cut it into calves." We read once, too, in an account of an assult case, that the medical witness, on examining the complainant's head, found an incised wound there which was "two inches long and some feet deep." "Some feet" was a misprint for "somewhat," very badly written. The reporter was a Scotchman, and having missed the exact depth of the wound, had cautiously indulged in a vague generality. Dean Stanley stated at a public meeting, a few months ago, that a correspondent once wrote to him to ask what he meant by a passage in one of his works containing the words "the horns of the burning beast." On reference, he found that this was the humorous way in which the printer had chosen to reproduce "the thorn of the burning bush."

Two boys in Reading, Penna., saw a picture of a man hanging in an illustrated paper, and began to play "hang" by putting a rope on some framework outside their house. The older of the two boys first tried it, and after him the other put the rope around his neck. The older now walked off, and when the mother came upon the scene the younger's face was black and blue. Life was not quite extinct.

A FATAL LOVE.—A disheartened lover at Grand Gulf, just below Vicksburg, by the name of Cushing, shot and killed the fair lady, named Andrews, who rejected him, last Saturday, after which he engaged in a duel with the enraged brother of the murdered lady, which resulted in the killing of both parties.—*Memphis (Tenn.) THE SEASON.—"While the earth remaineth, seed time and harvest and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night, shall not cease."

One of the changes incident upon this change of season is that of our clothing from the thick heavy garments of winter to the light and airy clothes of Summer, and there is one thing that contributes more to our comfort, our health and to economy than our thus regulating our clothes by these changes of the season.

You can be "cool as a cucumber" this summer, if only you wear clothing from Wanamaker & Brown's. It

VELOCIPEDE SCHOOL.—The famous Velocipede has reached Gettysburg at last. Mr. D. C. DURNBAUGH, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., will open a Velocipede School in Agricultural Hall, on Monday the 19th inst., when all desiring to indulge in this fascinating exercise will have the opportunity to learn and practice the art. 2t

NEW COOKING STOVE.—The attention of Housekeepers is invited to the EXCELSIOR PENN COOK STOVE, which has recently been brought into the market, and bids fair to throw all other Stoves into the shade. This Stove took the first premium at the State Fair held in Harrisburg last fall. Among its peculiar merits are the large Oven and Flues, and general simplicity, not being encumbered with unnecessary appendages, which in many stoves only enhance the cost without being of practical use. For beauty of design, quality of material, and general excellence, it cannot be excelled. The price is lower than any other first-class Cook Stove in market, and yet is warranted to cook and bake equal to the best. The Excelsior Penn Cook can be seen at the Wareroom of Col. C. H. BUEHLER, on Carlisle street, Gettysburg, who is the Agent for this place. Call and see it. tf

HEAD QUARTERS REMOVED.—Capt. NORRIS, has removed his store to Arnold's Corner, next door to the 1st National Bank, where you will find one of the best and cheapest Stock of Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots, and Shoes, and Gentlemen' Furnishing Goods of every discription, in the county. He is selling Winter Clothing at greately reduced prices to make room for Spring Goods. If you want a BARGAIN go to NORRIS' corner. All kinds of Men's and Boy's Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes as cheap as before the War. If you don't believe this, call and be convinced.—Don't forget the place. tf

NOW IS THE TIME.—Our neighbor, F. CUNNINGHAM, has received another supply of Ready-made Clothing, bought specially for the Spring trade, and which he has marked down to prices to suit the times. He has everything in the line of Men's and Boy's wear, Coats, Pants, Vests, Socks, Suspenders, &c., with a large assortment of Fancy Goods; and those of our friends wanting anything in this line will do well to examine his stock before buying elsewher, if they want to save money. April 9-2t

☞C! C! C!—NORRIS will, after the 1st day of January sell all kinds of Winter Clothing at greatly redued prices—Over Coats as low as $4.00, Cavalry Over Coats at $6.25, Infantry Over Coats $5.25, and all other Winter goods at greatly reduced prices, to make room for Spring goods. tf

GREAT SURPRISE.—We were astonished the other day in passing Arnold's old corner. NORRIS has changed his base to this corner, and is surprising every body that visits him by his large and cheap Stock of Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c. &c. Give him a call. tf

A WORD TO THE WISE.—Persons going to Housekeeping this spring would do well to call at Col. C. H. BUEHLER's extensive Ware-room, near the Passenger depot, on Carlisle street, who has on hand a very large assortment of Stoves of the best manufacture, Cooking, Parlor, Office, and Chamber Stoves, for wood or Coal; also Hollow Ware, Tin Ware, Japan Ware, Britannia Ware, Bird Cages, and a general assortment of Kitchen utensils, necessary in house keeping, and at very low prices

MANHOOD.—IN THE YOUNG AND RISING generation, the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which Nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged.—The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Langour, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular system, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears.—The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

"TRUE MERIT WILL ALWAYS HAVE ITS REWARD."

It is certain that no truth has ever been more satisfactorily demonstrated in our midst than the above, as may be seen daily in the immense demand for that invaluable and popular tonic and stimulus, MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. It is the one thing needful for persons whose surroundings are unfavorable for good health, because it is a perfect protection against all morbid influences productive of disease. The present is the most fitting season for reinforcing the organs of our bodies, and insuring our health during the "cold term." We are all more or less negligent, but there are many persons who are always behind in this matter, consequently each change in the season comes along before they are prepared for it, and sickness seizes upon them, followed by all its train of ills. Begin now to ward off disease by using MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS every day regularly, and all the characteristics of good health will spring up within and continue with you. [Jan. 15.—3m No. 2

The Star and Sentinel.

Gettysburg, Friday, April 16, 1869.

COURT.—The April term of Court will commence on Monday next, to continue one week.

INCREASE.—The Gettysburg Water Company have determined to increase their capital stock. See adv.

ASSESSMENT.—The Mummasburg Insurance Company has levied an assessment of one per cent. on the Premium Notes, to meet losses by fire.

☞ In the State Senate, on Friday, Mr. Duncan called up a supplement to an act to incorporate the Adams County Railroad company which was passed.

☞ We notice that our representative, Dr. Dill, has introduced an act further supplemental to an act for the preservation of game, approved April 21, 1859, but the character of the bill is not stated.

SALE.—John Andrew Houck has purchased the property of John Jacobs, in Butler township, for $1,800.

George W. Lady has purchased the house and lot of William Russell, in Mummasburg, for $800 cash.

FRANKLIN ZOUAVES.—We are requested to state that this Company will meet for drill at Cary's Commons, near the Grape Vine Schoolhouse, in Butler township, on Saturday the 24th inst., at 9 A. M. A full turn out is desired.

DEAD.—Rev. MICHAEL DIEHL, Professor of Ancient Languages in Wittemburg College, Springfield, Ohio, died in that place on Saturday last. Prof. Diehl was a graduate of Pennsylvania College, and a brother of Rev. Dr. Diehl, of Frederick, Md.

SHERIFF'S SALES.—Sheriff HANN, on Saturday last, sold the farm of U. J. M. Baughman, 40 acres in Mountpleasant township, for $100; R. G. McCREARY purchaser. Sold under notice of claim by wife. The property of Jeremiah Wolf in East Berlin, was knocked down to James R. Gitt for $920.

ERROR.—In the published list of Borough and Township Officers elected at the recent Spring election, there was an error in the name of the Constable elected for York Springs Borough. It should be John A. McElwee, instead of J. F. Gardner. We published the list as we found it in the Compiler.

ACCIDENT.—A little son of Mr. THADDEUS BLOCHER, of Littlestown, was thrown from his father's horse on last Thursday evening, and suffered a painful fracture of the internal condile of the left arm at the elbow joint. Drs. SEISS and BENSON adjusted the fracture, and the patient is now doing well.—Press.

ACCEPTED.—We learn from the Middleton, Md., Register that Rev. M. J. ALLEMAN, pastor of the Lutheran Church in that place, has tendered his resignation, to take effect on the 1st of May, having accepted a call from St. Paul's Lutheran congregation in Littlestown. Mr. Alleman was formerly pastor of the Lutheran Church in Hanover.

DROWNED.—On Tuesday afternoon a child of Rev. J. A. DIXON, of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Hanover, aged about 18 months, was drowned in a pail of water standing on the floor. The child had learned to walk, and Mrs. D. had occasion to leave the room a few moments, and on returning found the child almost lifeless with its head in the pail. Every exertion was made to restore life but all in vain.

FRUIT BUDS.—We are glad to learn from several gentlemen largely engaged in fruit-growing in this county, that the Peach, Apple, and other fruit buds, have not been materially injured during the winter. The protracted cold this spring has been favorable, preventing a too rapid development of buds, which thus far are generally safe. The prospect is fair for a good fruit crop this season.

BARN BURNED.—We have been informed that a stable belonging Mr. Elijah Harman, in Mountpleasant township, Adams county, was consumed by fire on Sunday last. Several tons of hay and two valuable cows were also consumed by the fire. The origin of the fire is not positively known, but is supposed to have been occasioned by some children playing about the building. Mr. H. had the property partially insured.—Hanover Citizen.

NEW STREET.—The Town Council recently ordained the opening of a new street, to be called "Union," running from north Stratton to north Washington streets, striking the latter at a point immediately opposite the College. At the last Court viewers were appointed to assess damages on the line of the new street. On Wednesday the viewers reported the following damages:—John H. McClellan $175, George W. McClellan $350, Israel Yount $20, George Stremmell $125, and John Weygandt $350.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT.—By the notice in to-day's paper, it will be seen that the triennial Convention of the School Directors of Adams county will be held in the Court-house on Tuesday the 4th of May, to elect a County Superintendent and determine the salary. The Convention will be composed of existing School Boards. Directors elected last Spring do not take office until the 1st of June, except in new school districts created during the year—if there be any such.

CELEBRATION AT EAST BERLIN.—We are requested to announce that the East Berlin Beneficial Society will have a celebration in East Berlin, on Whit Monday (May 17,) consisting of a Procession, Addresses by distinguished speakers in the Lutheran and German Reform Church, &c. The Citizens' Cornet Band will be present to enliven the occasion. This Society was Chartered in 1842, and is still in a flourishing condition. The Committee charged with the arrangements for the occasion consist of Messrs. H. W. King, J. C. Hildebrand, G. W. Spangler, H. B. Kline, A. S. Hildebrand, and E. C. Blinsinger.

I. O. O. F.—The elected and appointed officers of Gettys Lodge No. 124 I. O. O. F., were installed on the evening of the 6th inst., by District Deputy H. C. Peters, viz: N. G., Wm. F. Atkinson; V. G., David H. Yount; R. S., James McCreary; A. S., H. S. Benner; F. S., Wm. C. Stallsmith; T., John Rupp; C., Robert D. Armor; S. W., David Troxell; J. W., Jacob Remmell; R. and L. S. S., P. W. McCartney and Wm. D. Holtzworth; R. and L. S. to N. G., David Kitzmiller and W. R. H. Deatrick; R. L. S. to V. G., Isaac Johns and Hugh D. Scott.

NATIONAL MONUMENT.—As the dedication of the Soldiers National Monument has been arranged for the 1st of July, the Contractor is commencing his preparations to put up the monument.—The stone has long since been cut, ready for shipment, at the quarries in New England, but the contractor has been awaiting the arrival of the statues from Italy. Three of these are now on the ground, and the other two are on their way. When everything is ready, the putting up of the monument will occupy but a few weeks.

NEW FIRM.—Messrs. R. C. COBEAN and JAMES CUNNINGHAM have entered into partnership, as dealers in Readymade Clothing, and have opened a large assortment of Goods adapted for the Spring trade, including Coats, Pants, Vests Shirts, Socks, &c. Their stock of Boys' Clothing is especially large, and selected with taste and judgment. Persons thinking of purchasing Spring Clothing will do well to call at the establishment of Cobean and Cunningham, on Baltimore street, opposite Fahnestock's store. 1t

SPRINGS HOTEL.—The new Hotel at the Katalysine Spring is going up very rapidly, and will soon be under roof. It will be a very large and imposing building. The Company are desirous of having it finished and opened for visitors the coming season, if possible.

The main building fronts North 120 feet and is 44 feet deep, four stories, with an extension from the centre of the main building south 120 by 38 feet, four stories. The main entrance will be on the North, with Ladies' entrance on the East, a Piaza 15 feet wide and 200 feet long running the entire front of the building and around the eastern and western ends. The building will accommodate about 300 guests, and will be furnished with all the requisites of a first class Summer Hotel—with a very large Dinning and Cotillion Room Billiard Room, Bar Room, Reading Room, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Parlors, &c., all judiciously arranged, with wide halls and corridors—designed to promote the comfort and convenience of guests. The Kitchen will be in the rear, with a large Range with capacity to cook for 1000 guests, to meet the demand of future enlargement of the hotel. This department will be arranged so as to prevent the odor from cooking reaching the main building. Notwithstanding the size of the building, and the immense amount of material and labor involved in its erection, Dr. SMITH, the energetic contractor, is pressing the work with great rapidity, and expects to have it finished by the middle of June.—He has between 40 and 50 carpenters at work, divided into four or five gangs—each set of workmen, under experienced foremen, prosecuting distinct branches of the work—thus avoiding confusion and ensuring rapid work.

Besides the Hotel proper, other improvements in the grounds are going on under Dr. Smith's direction, giving employment to a number of hands. Besides the building of a large Cistern, Privies, &c., ornamental trees are being planted, fences removed, walks and drives laid out—it being the intention to throw the grounds from the Spring to the Mill road, 105 acres, into one enclosure or park, including the two groves east and west of the Spring.

Few even of our citizens have any idea of the extent of the improvements under way and in contemplation, and in a few months the grounds will hardly be recognized by the casual visitor. The Hotel itself will be an imposing building, and we trust the most sanguine expectations of the Company may be realized.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.—Mr. George Thomas, residing the last year near Frizzleburg, Md., but formerly of New Oxford, Adams county, has disappeared very mysteriously, causing the deepest anxiety to his wife and friends.—It appears that on Tuesday morning week he left home on horse back for Hanover, and at the Savings Institution there lifted $200, with interest, which had been on deposit. Remaining with a friend over night, he started on Wednesday morning to go to Gettysburg, he said. But there is no trace of his coming here. On Thursday morning, however, his horse was found in the stable, with saddle and bridle off, but Thomas nowhere to be found.—There are several theories in regard to this strange affair—one that he may have been murdered on the way, and the horse returned to the stable by the guilty party to create the idea that he had left voluntarily. And another that he may have gone off for some motive altogether inexplicable to his friends. We have been told that a dam near Frizzleburg has been dragged, under the supposition that Mr. Thomas was foully deal with and his body thrown into the water.—Compiler.

☞ Desirous of posting our readers with matters and things of special local interest, we transfer to our columns the following telegram which, through the Associated Press Association, has appeared in all the leading papers of the country. We are happy to say that "all is quiet along the lines," and that as yet no bridges have been demolished:

THE KATALYSINE SPRING WAR.

GETTYSBURG, April 10.—A stranger presented himself at the Katalysine Spring yesterday evening, after every person had left the grounds except the nightwatchman, who sleeps in one of the buildings, he expressed a desire to see the spring and taste the water at its source, before leaving in the morning train. As this is a common occurence, no suspicion was excited, and he was admitted to the bottling establishment, through which he had to pass in reaching the spring at that hour.—Seizing the opportunity, he thrust his attendant from the building, and following him, turned the key in the door, and coolly informed him that he was an agent of New York Gettysburg Spring Company, and that he had taken possession for his principals.

He occupied the premises during the night, and in the morning quite a crowd assembled, among whom was a large sprinkling of invalids, who had come to Gettysburg for water, in anticipation of the stoppage of supplies. Some excitement was evidenced, but no disturbance, and peaceable possession was delivered to the resident agent and his employees.

The proprietor has notified the company of his purpose to dispute the right of way to and from the spring over his land by demolishing bridges and interposing obstructions. Having accomplished the surprise and recapture of the springs, the resolute stranger took the cars and returned to New York. He is believed to be a New York Detective.

ENTERTAINMENT.—The pupils of Miss MARY MCCLELLAN'S Select School will give an Entertainment in Agricultural Hall on Monday evening, April 26—the exercises to consist of Readings, Recitations, Speeches, Dialogues, Tableaux, Music, &c. Proceeds to be devoted to purchasing the necessary furniture for the School-room.—Admittance 25 cents; children under 12 years 15 cents. Miss McClellan has the reputation of being a successful teacher, and her pupils have entered into the proposed entertainment with unwonted zest.—From what we hear of the programme, we have no doubt it will be an interesting one, and hope there will be a full house.

A NEW PAPER.—"The Littlestown Press," is the title of a new candidate for public favor, which has made its appearance in Littlestown, Pa., J. H. CHRIST & Dr. C. W. BENSON Editors. It is a respectable seven column page paper, to be neutral in politics, eschewing "the wordy disputes of the learned theologian and the heated contests of the political arena."—The first number looks well, and we cordially extend to the editors the customary greetings, with hearty wishes for a prosperous career. The enterprise is in some respects a hazardous one, but with pluck and energy may be made to succeed. The editors do wisely in starting it as a $2 paper.

READING.—Prof. Bailey will give a Public Reading in Agricultural Hall, on Saturday evening. Tickets 35 cents. 1t

COMING THIS WAY.—Don't startle, good readers, when we tell you that the renowned Jerome Blitz is coming. He is now at Chambersburg, attracting immense houses, and the whole town has got the Jerome Blitz on the brain. 1t

MILLINERY.—ROSA M. MONTFORT continues the Millinery trade in Hunterstown. Latest styles of Hats and Bonnets always on hand. 1t

BORDER LOSSES.—The Commissioners appointed to assess the losses sustained in the border counties, during the war, have made report to the Legislature. The following figures show the aggregate amount claimed and allowed in each county:

Franklin, amount claimed	$838,162 18
" allowed	788,733 99
Adams, amount claimed	552,398 97
" allowed	507,797 37
Cumberland, amount claimed	238,400 02
" allowed	216,724 46
York, amount claimed	127,668 55
" allowed	124,728 50
Fulton, amount claimed	54,421 32
" allowed	45,600 57
Bedford, amount claimed	7,186, 23
"	7,126.23

In the Senate, on the 7th, Mr. Duncan offered a resolution to have 10,00 copies of the Report of the Commissioners printed, which was amended by inserting 2,000 instead of 10,000. The resolution as amended was then voted down ayes 13, nays 17. The printing was resisted as involving an unnecessary expenditure of money, inasmuch as the Act under which the Commissioners were appointed expressly stipulated that the State was not to be liable for the claims, but simply provided for ascertainment of the amount with a view to securing payment by the General Government. We have always insisted that these claims should be paid by the State as a simple act of justice to our people. To turn the claimants over to the General Government is simply a farce, as the latter has already a load of debt to carry incident to the War, which will prevent it from assuming to pay losses which occurred by reason of battle, the march of armies, and Rebel aggression.

We regret to notice that the vote on Mr. Duncan's resolution was a strictly party vote, the Republicans voting adversely. The debate is not reported, and the reasons which influeded Senators do not appear. But there is no question that the Republican party in the State will be reluctant to pays these claimes, so long as the border counties continue to send unmitigated Copperheads to represent them in the Legislature, evince no symbathy with the men who fought the Rebellion, and fail to recognize the great practical results of the War. If these claims are to be paid, the best way to secure the result, is for the counties interested to send Representatives to Harrisburg in thorough accord with the dominant party in the State.

A GOOD IDEA.—To accommodate the new Passenger cars which the Hanover Branch Railroad Company intend to place on the road shortly, it has been found necessary to raise the roof of the Passenger Depot in this place several feet. At the same time a desirable improvement has been effected by taking out the northern wall and substituting columns, with a wide platform running the entire length of the depot. Not only will there be more light, but passengers will thus be enabled to pass from the Cars direct into the street, without the crowding and confusion incident to passing through the small reception rooms. The new Passenger Cars were built at York, and are said to be after the best models.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS.—We neglected to notice in our list of improvements in another issue, that our friend, F. D. DUPHORN has put up a new Show Window which adds very much to the appearance of his Store. He has just been to the cities, and is receiving a large stock of Dry Goods, Queensware, Notions, &c.—Do not fail to call and examine his Goods before purchasing elsewhere, especially his fine Cloths and Cassimeres. Store N. W. corner Square. 1t

A NEW FERTILIZER.—Messrs. BURKHOLDER & WILSON have obtained Letters Patent from the United States, dated March 30, 1869, for their new Fertilizer known as the "Star Bone Phosphate," which has already obtained quite a reputation among Farmers who have tried it. Although but recently introduced the proprietors have already sold about 50 tons in the county. The "Star Bone Phosphate" is one of the few fertilizers of sufficient merit to justify the issue of a Patent by the United States. This of itself attests its merit, and will protect per sons buying from imposition and infringement. Messrs. Burkholder and Wilson are energetic business men, and now that they have secured their Patent intend at once to open manufactories in York, Dauphin, and Cumberland and other adjoining counties. Their establishment in Gettysburg is on the Northwest corner of Washington and Railroad streets, formerly occupied by the Beater Hay Press Company.

STEM POWER.—WM. CHRITZMAN having put up a Steam Engine in connection with his Carpenter Shop, is prepared to saw and turn out all kinds of Brackets, Scolls, Mouldings, Ornamental Work, &c., for Carpenters and Builders promptly and on reasonable terms. Orders for any kind of work promptly filled. Orders can be left at his establishment on Washington street, or addressed to WM. CHRITZMAN, Gettysburg, Pa. 1t

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

An Eastern medical periodical gives an interesting account of the complete cure of Mrs. Amos Stauffer, of Manor, Lancaster county, Pa., of hereditary Consumption. Her parents and several brothers and sisters died of this terrible disease. Mrs. Stauffer was herself reduced to a mere skeleton; the pulse at 140; her breathing painfully difficult; expectorations very excessive; diarrhea worse than chronic, and her condition so hopeless that at a conference of the old and skillful physicians she was pronounced incurable.—At this stage of the disease, Dr. S. B. Hartman, of Millersville, Lancaster county, Pa., a physician of fourteen years standing, prescribed MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. The patient soon experienced a pleasing invigorating sensation throughout her system, and encouraged by her friends to continue its use, her increased doses according to her strength, until she entirely recovered. Mr. Stauffer is living, in the full enjoyment of perfect health. [illegible] President of the Lancaster County (Pa.) National Bank, [illegible] wonderful cure. [illegible]

AYER'S

CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them.—Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug; they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For DYSPEPSIA or INDIGESTION, LISTLESSNESS, LANGUOR and LOSS OF APPETITE, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For LIVER COMPLAINT and its various symptoms, BILIOUS HEADACHE, SICK HEADACHE, JAUNDICE or GREEN SICKNESS, BILIOUS COLIC and BILIOUS FEVERS, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For DYSENTERY or DIARRHOEA, but one mild dose is generally required.

For RHEUMATISM, GOUT, GRAVEL, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, PAIN IN THE SIDE, BACK and LOINS, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system.—With such change those complaints disappear.

For DROPSY and DROPSICAL SWELLINGS they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For SUPPRESSION a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

A CRACK IN A HOG-TROUGH.

A few days ago a friend sent me word that, every day, he gave twenty pails of buttermilk to a lot of "shotes," and they scarcely improved at all. Thinks I, this is a breed of hogs worth knowing. They must be of the sheet iron kind. So I called on him, heard him repeat the mournful story, and then visited the sty, in order to get a better view of the miraculous swine. I went into the pen, and, on close examination, found a crack in the trough, through which most of the contents ran away under the floor. Thinks I, here is the type of failure of our agricultural brethren.

When I see a farmer omitting all improvements because of a little cost, selling all his farm stock to buy bank or railroad or mortgage stock, robbing his land, while, in reality, he is also robbing himself, and his heir, thinks I, my friend, you have a crack in your hog-trough.

When I see a farmer subscribing for a half dozen political and miscellaneous papers, and spending all his time in reading them, while he doesn't read a single agricultural journal, thinks I to myself, poor man, you have got a large crack in your hog-trough.

When I see a farmar attending all the political conventions, and knowing every man in town that votes his ticket, and yet, to save his own neck, couldn't tell who is president of his county agricultural society, or where the fair was held last year, I "unanimously" come to the conclusion that the poor soul has got a crack in his hog-trough.

When I see a farmer buying guano, but wasting ashes and hen-manure, trying all sorts of experiments except intelligent hard work and economy, getting the choicest of seeds regardless of cost, then planting them regardless of cultivation, growing a variety of fruit call Sour Tart Seedling, and sweetening it with sugar, pound for pound, keeping the front fields rich while the back lots are growing up with thistles, briars, and elders, contributing to the Choctaw-Indian fund, and never giving a cent to any agricultural society, such a man, I will give a written guarantee, has got a crack in his hog-trough, and in his head also.

When I see a farmer allowing loose boards all over his yard, fences down, hinges off the gate, manure in the barn-yard, I come to the conclusion that he has got a large crack in his hog-trough.

When I see a farmer spending his time traveling in a carriage, when he has to sell his corn to pay the hired, help and his hogs are so lean that they have to lean against the fence to squeal, I rather lean to the conclusion that somebody that stays at home will have a lien on the farm, and that some day the bottom will come entirely out of his hog-trough.—Prairie Farmer.

HOW TO RAISE GOOD POTATOES.

J. T. Merriman writes to the Ohio Farmer as follows: Many people think that potatoes will grow, no matter how poor the seed is—the refuse of what is left of eating—while others plant mixed varieties, all sorts planted together, and then complain of poor potatoes. I have been an observer of the management in raising potatoes of different kinds for fifty years; the way I have had the best crop is to plow up a piece of greensward of good depth, from one to fifteen acres, as the individual may want, then harrow lengthwise until it is well mellowed up, then diagonally, so as to have it well mellowed; then with a light shovel-plow mark out three feet a part and not cross it, and be sure to have your rows east and west, (corn rows should be north and south,) so the sun will not burn or heat the hills in hot weather.

My plan is to sort the potatoes, taking out the two biggest sizes to use, then take the three next sizes, and leave the two least and all the ill-shaped ones of all sizes. As like produces like of ill ones, that is why potatoes degenerate, I put plaster or gypsum about one tablespoonful in the hill, when I drop my potatoes. I plant them one way and cover with my hoe; I plant rows three feet apart, the hills two feet apart. My mode is to put one potato or half in the hill with the plaster, of whatever kind of potatoes I plant; the plaster helps to start the potatoes and keep them from rotting, which is an object of late years. One potato or one piece is enough for a hill. By planting on sward land the potatoes are dry and mealy, while on land that has been plowed several times, the potatoes will be soggy.

The potato crop is becoming more profitable, and it is time that farmers should look out for good seed and plant good and not poor kinds or poor potatoes. It takes ten or twelve bushels of seed potatoes to plant an acre as I plant, and generally from three hundred to four hundred bushels product.

I cultivate potatoes when they are up about two inches high, then use a shovel plow, so as to have them good to hoe. I hoe them when about a foot high, and hill them not to high. Some farmers plow a deep furrow, drop in their potatoes and plow in their seed, plow up the hills and plow out their potatoes. This is hoeing potatoes with a vengeance; potatoes bruised; one hundred bushels per acre, and small, poor ones at that. Potatoes are one of our staples for family support, and should be raised with care to get good ones.

Racing at Fairs.—The Bucks County Intelligencer, whose editor, Mr. Darlington, is the active Secretary of the Agricultural Society of that county, thinks as we do on the queston of horse-racing at Farmer's fairs, refers to an address of the President of the New York Society, in which he says that the Legislature ought to withdraw its aid from agricultural societies which encourage racing and shows and games of all kinds. There is no agricultural society in the Union that has had more experience as to what these exhibitions ought to be, or that has achieved so much substantial and honorable success as that of New York. We might also refer to the old Montgomery County Society which has not encouraged racing, and which has been well attended by the best and most respectable practical farmers in the county, and has always been satisfactorily sustained.—We trust that it will in the future, as it has in the past, eschew everything not recognized as belonging to the farm and the household of the farmer. It is only by such a course that it will prove it itself entitled to what claims to be and become an actual benefit to the agriculture of the country.

Carrots for Horses.—Carrots are a most excellent food for horses. They impart a bright glossiness to their coat and give to them health, vigor and activity.—By frequent experiments that have been made one bushel of oats and one bushel of carrots are better for a horse than two bushels of oats. In New Jersey one thousand bushels of carrots have frequently been grown to an acre, and five hundred bushels can be raised with perfect ease.

The carrot prefers a well enriched, sandy soil, and it is for this reason, no doubt, that so little progress has been made in carrot culture in the Miami Valley, where a sandy soil does not exist. On the Scioto and Muskingum bottoms, we should suppose, that growing carrots might be made very profitable.

Every railroad train in Sweden is provided with an efficient medical staff and complete pharmacy, so that in case of accident no time is lost in administering to the wants of the wounded.

The ZINGARI BITTERS are compounded from a prescription of the celebrated Egyptian physician Dr. CHEOPSUS, who, after years of trial and experiment, discovered the Zingarini Herb—the most remarkable vegetable production, the earth, perhaps, has ever yielded—certainly the most effective in the cure of disease. It, in combination with the other valuable properties of which the ZINGARI BITTERS is composed, will cure

Dyspepsia, Fever and Ague, Bilious Fever, Cholic, Colds, Bronchitis, Consumption in its first stage, Flatulency, Nervous Debility, Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Dysentery, Acute and Chronic Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, Cholera, Typhoid and Typhus Fever, Yellow Fever, Scrofula, Diseases of the Kidneys, Habitual Costiveness, &c., &c.

In the PREVENTION and CURE of the above diseases, it has never been known to fail, as thousands of our most prominent citizens throughout all parts of the country, will testify. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them, yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Billious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

THE GREAT

Invigorator and Restorer OF THE Vitality of the Stomach,

Prepared from Pure Vegetable Materials.

Pure Tonics and the most Pleasant Aromatics.

This invaluable Remedy for Dyspepsia and General Debility of the system is offered to the public, after a fair trial of its merits, with entire confidence that it will command their approval. It has been submitted, with the materials which compose it, to practising Physicians—among others to Dr. M. D. G. PFEIFFER, one of our oldest and most eminent Physicians, residing at New Oxford, who, after examination, pronounced it a Remedy which would not fail to show its salutary effects, when properly administered, in cases of Dyspepsia, springing from old age and debilitating effects of serious inward diseases—weakening, and at last destroying the nervous power of the stomach itself—and therefore entitling it to be emphatically called "The Great Invigorator."

Dr. W. J. McCLURE, another prominent Physician of New Oxford, thus gives his opinion:

NEW OXFORD, Dec. 30, 1868.

MR. JOHN BUSBEY.

Dear Sir:—At your request I have examined "The Great Invigorator," prepared by you, and the formula from which it is prepared. It is composed of some of the most powerful vegetable tonics and most pleasant aromatics known to our profession, and I have no hesitancy in recommending it in Chronic cases of Dyspepsia, and in all cases of Indigestion resulting from debility of the Stomach. Believing that, if properly used, it will be of incalculable benefit to the suffering of our race, I subscribe myself,

Yours, very respectfully,

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for useful ness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but no harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

A Word to the Wise!

THE importance of a quick, active and durable Fertilizer, adapted to the soil of our county, is acknowledged by all Farmers. Having satisfied myself, after long study and careful experiment, that F. C. RENNER'S surpasses all others in adaptiveness to all kinds of soil. I have purchased the right for Adams county, and am prepared to fill orders for it promptly and on reasonable terms. It is no humbug, but

Chemical Fertilizer

HAS BEEN SUCCESSFULLY TRIED

by a number of our Farmers, and is admitted by all who have it to be the best in the market, and the cheapest. I am prepared to furnish this Fertilizer in any quantity, and will deliver

In any town or village in the County, when ordered in not less quantity than a TON. I manufacture it for sale at $50 per ton without bags, or $55 in bags. This fertilizer is composed of the best fertilizing chemicals that can be had. I use no oil of vitriol; it does not contain any ammonia, therefore I do not use it. Neither do I use lime nor ashes.

THE OBJECT OF THE CHEMICAL FERTILIZER

is to introduce a fertilizer that will last for a series of crops—not only for one. It contains sufficient animal matter to mature the grain and make it ripen early, while the ammonia forces the growth. I expect to manufacture a large supply this winter for the spring crops, and therefore invite farmers and the public generally to give it a trial on all kinds of Grains and Vegetables.

CAUTION.—I hereby give notice that Farm Rights hereafter sold unless signed by me are infringements on my Right, and will be prosecuted and dealt with according to law, from which there is no appeal.

FARMERS, Fruit Growers & Gardners.

Best's "Improved Patent Fruit Tree Invigorator and Vine Insect Destroyer."

THIS is truly one of the greatest discoveries ever made—combining the most useful ingredients ever known for fruit, grain and general vegetation. As a fertilizer, it has no equal. When applied to the tree it penetrates every pore—destroying every species of insect, and the worm in the heart of the tree or plant—connecting with the mineral substance of the earth, destroys the cause and prevents the creation of any destructive insect. It will prevent Curculio from stinging the plum. It will kill the peach grub. It will loosen the knot and old bark on the vine and tree—slough off the same and re-bark the stock. In a word, it reinvigorates the whole tree and gives it health and strength to withstand the severity of the weather and retain its fruit. It will destroy all insects which infest the potatoes, cucumbers, potatoes, tomatoes, plants, &c. and stimulate their growth. It will prevent weevil, mildew, rust or the fly from touching the wheat, and the cut worm from the corn. It is now extensively used in the Western States, and persons who use it would not be without it for one thousand times its value. No man who has a single fruit tree can afford to be without it. Upon application, we will refer to persons who are using it in Berks county, and would not take $1000 for their recipe, we will give residence and address. The undersigned have purchased the sole right to use, sell and apply the Invigorator, within the counties of York, Cumberland, Adams, Franklin, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, Lehigh and Philadelphia City and county, and are now prepared to sell townships or county rights. Persons who have purchased townships have made as high as $50 to $100 per day selling farm rights at from $5 to $10 per recipe.

COE'S COUGH BALSAM!

This long tried and popular Remedy is again called to the attention of the public. As often as the year rolls around, the proprietors annually make their bow to the people, and remind them that amongst the many things required for the health, comfort and sustenance of the family through the long and tedious months of winter, Coe's Cough Balsam should not be forgotten. For years it has been a household medicine—and mothers anxious for the safety of their children, and all who suffer from any disease of the throat, chest and lungs, cannot afford to be without it. In addition to the ordinary four ounce so long in the market, we now furnish our mammoth family size bottles, which will, in common with the other size, be found at all Drug Stores.

FOR CROUP,

The Balsam will be found invaluable, and may always be relied upon in the most extreme cases.

WHOOPING COUGH.

The testimony of all who have used it for this terrible disease during the last ten years, is, that it invariably relieves and cures it.

SORE THROAT.

Keep your throat wet with the Balsam—taking little and often—and you will very soon find relief.

HARD COLDS AND COUGHS

Yield at once to a steady use of this great remedy.—It will succeed in giving relief where all other remedies have failed.

SORENESS OF THE THROAT, CHEST AND LUNGS.

Do not delay procuring and immediately taking Coe's Cough Balsam, when troubled with any of the above named difficulties. They are all premonitory symptoms of Consumption, and if not arrested, will sooner or later sweep you away into the valley of shadows from which none can ever return.

IN CONSUMPTION,

Many a care-worn sufferer has found relief and today rejoices that her life has been made easy and prolonged by the use of Coe's Cough Balsam.

IN SHORT,

The people know the article, and it needs no comment from us. It is for sale by every Druggist and Dealer in Medicines in the United States.
